

Story 1

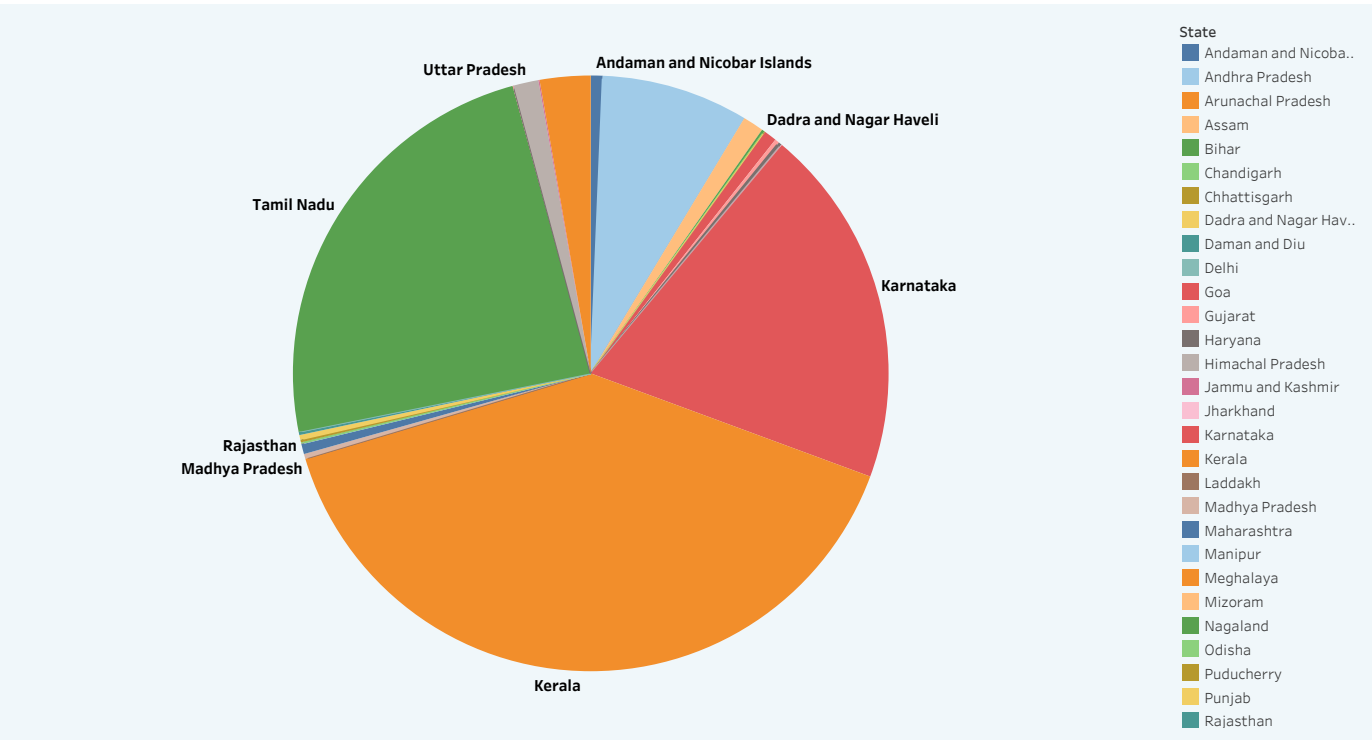

This pie chart illustrates the sum production of states in india. This chart differentiates the states with the highest production by size.

This map explained minimum and maximum yield in states by percentage.

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and maximum production levels.

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice, the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield. In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the l..

Story 1

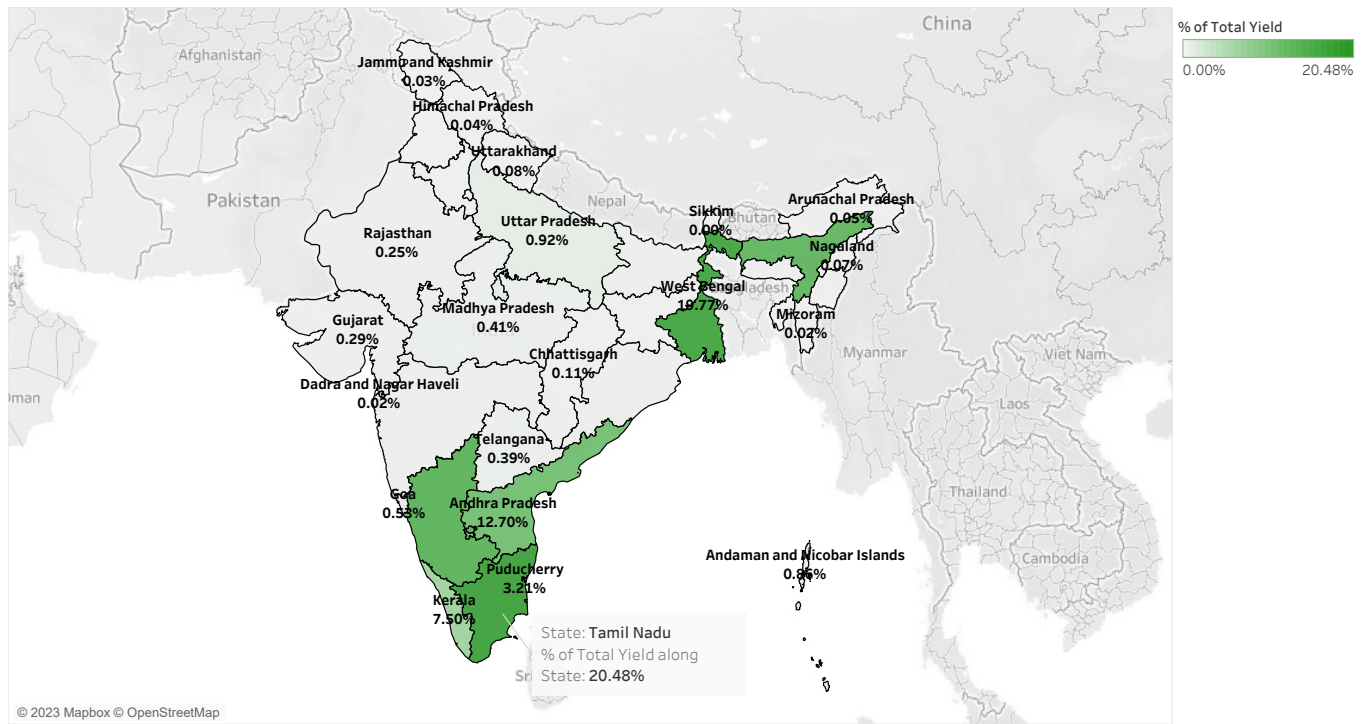

This pie chart illustrates the sum production of states in india. This chart differentiates the states with the highest production by size.

This map explained minimum and maximum yield in states by percentage.

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and maximum production levels.

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice, the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield.In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the l..

Story 1

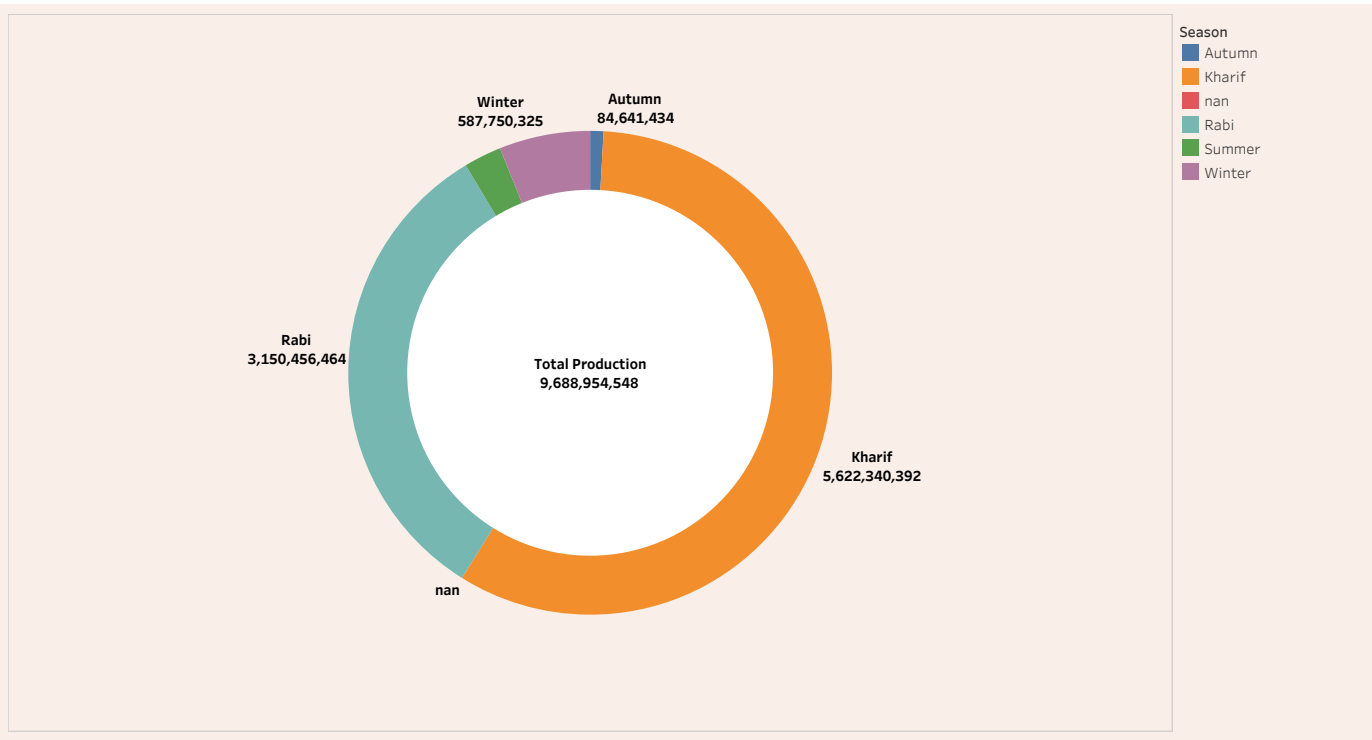

This pie chart illustrates the sum production of states in india. This chart differentiates the states with the highest production by size.

This map explained minimum and maximum yield in states by percentage.

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and maximum production levels.

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice. the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield. In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the lowest yield is at the last position. This graph also explains the yield over the ...

Story 1

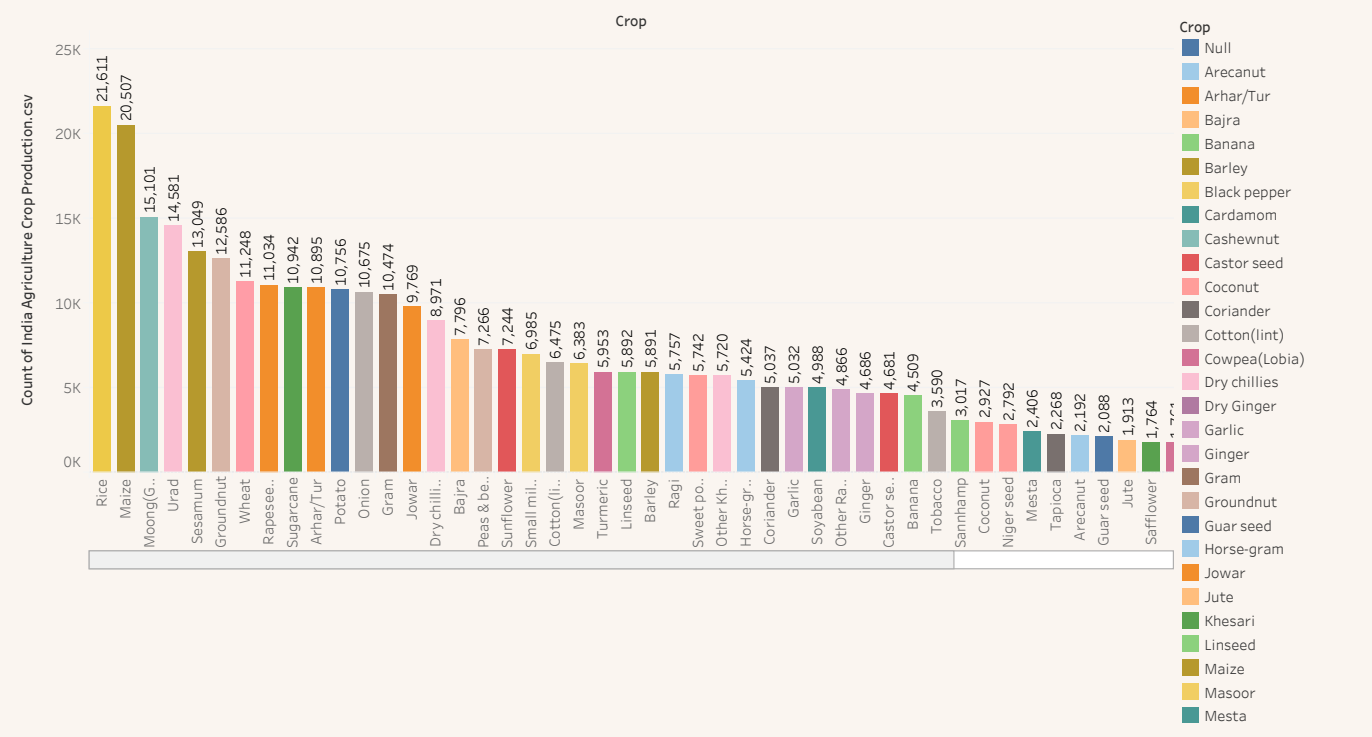

This map explained minimum and maximum yield in states by percentage.

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and maximum production levels.

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice. the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield. In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the lowest yield is at the last position. This graph also explains the yield over the years in percentage terms.

This graph explain the year-to-year variation in crop production in percentage terms. the highest production of the year is 2018-19

Story 1

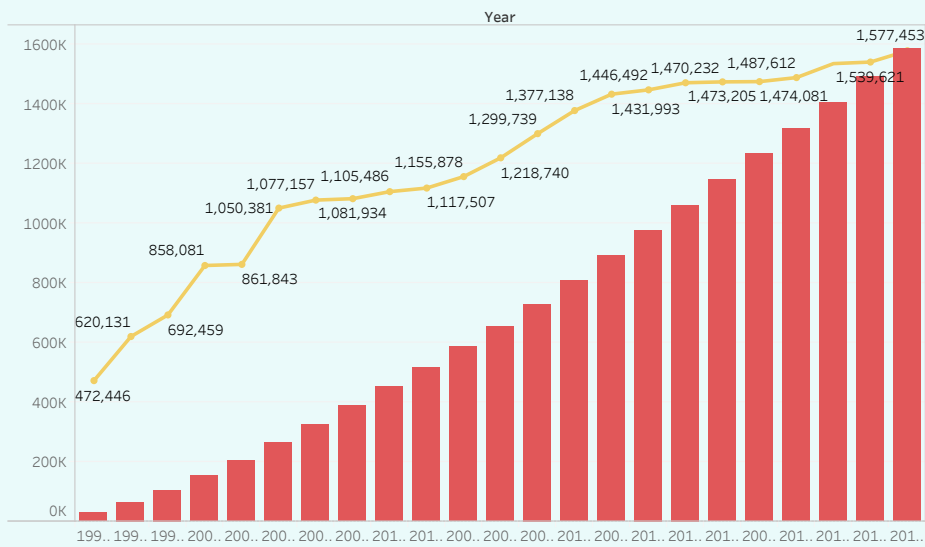

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and maximum production levels.

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice. the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield. In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the lowest yield is at the last position. This graph also explains the yield over the years in percentage terms.

This graph explain the year-to-year variation in crop production in percentage terms. the highest production of the year is 2018-19

This map explain which crops are grown in how much area and high area crops are shown by increasing lines and low area crops by decreasing lines.

Story 1

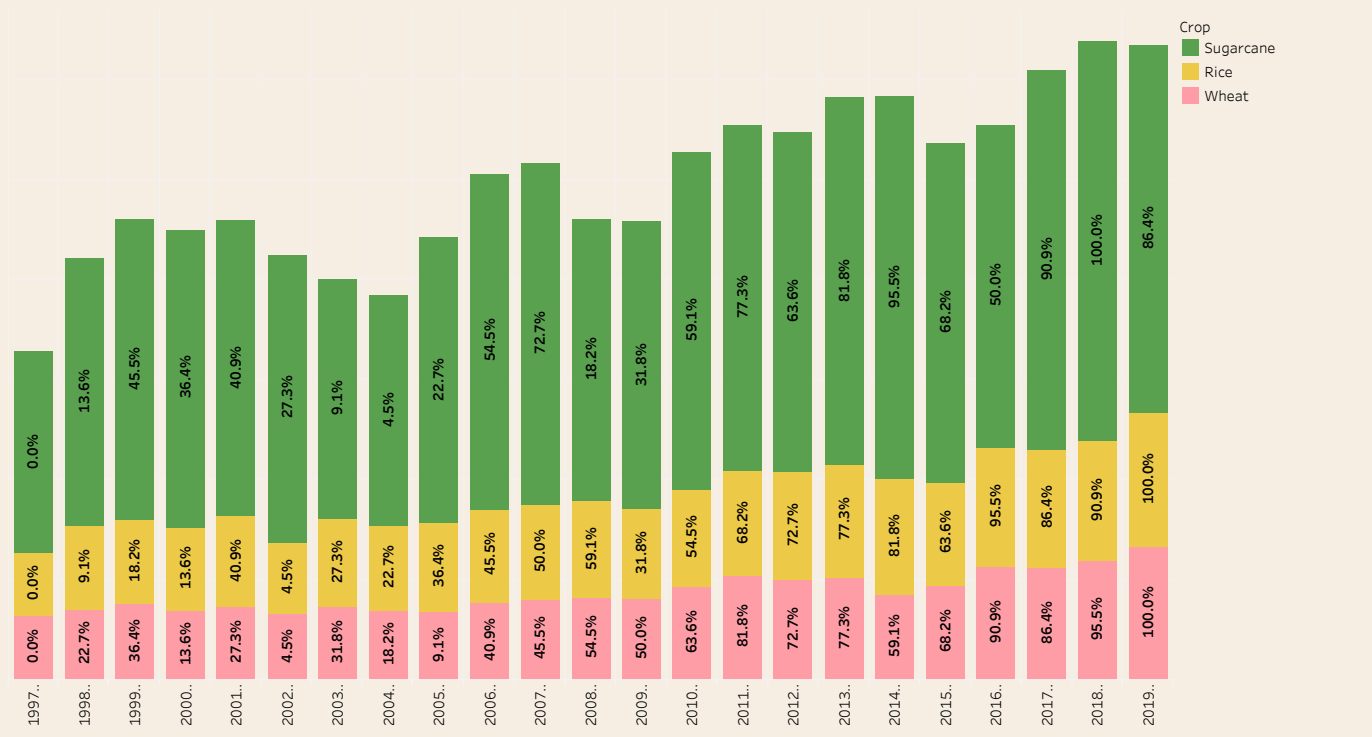

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and max..

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice. the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield. In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the lowest yield is at the last position. This graph also explains the yield over the years in percentage terms.

This graph explain the year-to-year variation in crop production in percentage terms. the highest production of the year is 2018-19

This map explain which crops are grown in how much area and high area crops are shown by increasing lines and low area crops by decreasing lines.

Story 1

This chart shows how much is produced in which season. This chart shows the minimum and max..

This chart explained crop production by count. In this chart distinguishes crops with high and low numbers. The number one crop is rice. the least one is dry ginger.

This graph shows year wise yield. In this graph the highest yield of the year is at the first position and the lowest yield is at the last position. This graph also explains the yield over the years in percentage terms.

This graph explain the year-to-year variation in crop production in percentage terms. the highest production of the year is 2018-19

This map explain which crops are grown in how much area and high area crops are shown by increasing lines and low area crops by decreasing lines.

